

ER OVERCOATS, $35.

Benjamin, Furnishings.
see 26th St

BRYAN'S FAREWELL BLAST
HE LETS OUT AGAIN SOME OF THE WHOOFS THAT FAILED.

He Also Brandishes Over the "Money Lenders" and "Corporate Employers"
the Stuffed Club of His Rhetoric—Defeated Only by the "Loss of a Few States."

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 6.—William J. Bryant this afternoon gave out the following statement:
"to the bimetallicists of the United States:"
"Conscious that millions of loyal hearts are saddened by temporary defeat, I beg to offer word of hope and encouragement. No cause ever had supporters more brave, earnest, and devoted than those who have espoused the cause of bimetallicism. They have fought for conviction, and have fought with all the strength which conviction inspires. Events will prove whether they are right or wrong. Having done their duty as they saw it, they have nothing to regret. The Republican candidate has been heralded as the advance agent of prosperity; if his policies bring real prosperity to the American people, those who opposed him will share in that prosperity. If, on the other hand, his policies prove an injury to the people generally, those of his supporters who opposed not belong to the officeholding class or to the privileged classes will suffer in common with those who opposed him. The friends of bimetalism have not been vanquished; they have simply been overcomquished; they believe that the gold standard is a conspiracy of the money changers against the welfare of the human race, and until convinced of their error they will continue the warfare against it.

"The contest has been waged this year under great embarrassments and against great odds. For the first time during this generation public attention has been centred upon the money question as the paramount issue, and this has been done in spite of all attempts upon the part of our opponents to prevent it. The Republican Convention held out the delusive hope of international bimetalism, while Republican leaders labored secretly for gold monometallism. Gold-standard Democrats have publicly advocated the election of the Indianapolis ticket, while they labored secretly for the election of the Republican ticket. The trusts and corporations have tried to excite a fear of lawlessness, while the themselves have been defying the law. And American financiers have boasted that they were the custodians of national honor, while they were secretly bartering away the nation's financial independence. But in spite of the efforts of the Administration and its supporters; in spite of the threats of money lenders at home and abroad; in spite of the efforts of the press and the radio; in spite of trusts and syndicates; in spite of an enormous Republican campaign fund, and "I desire to commend the work of the three associations which have joined in the management of this campaign. Cooperation between the members of distinct political organizations is always difficult, but it has been less so this year than usual. Interest in a common cause of great importance has reduced friction and increased unanimity."

"No personal or political friend can grieve for me because of my defeat. My ambition has been to enjoy the immediate legislation rather than to enjoy the comfort of the Senate. I have no regrets in bringing to my end my feeling of personal loss. Speaking for the wife who has shared my labors, as well as for myself, I desire to say that we have "In the love of millions of our fellow citizens we have found a common bond, a common bond of personal contact with the people, and in brotherly sympathies, we find full compensation for whatever efforts we have put forth. Our hearts have been touched by the devotion of friends and our lips have found a new appreciation of the love of the whole people, an appreciation which we prize as the richest reward which this campaign has brought.

"In the face of an enemy rejoicing in its victory let the roll be called for the next engagement and our united voice shall proclaim to our enemies and to all mankind, the courage and the nobility of our cause."

right, as I believe we are, we shall yet triumph. Until convinced of his error, let each advocate of bimetalism continue the work. Let all the silver clubs retain their organization, hold regular meetings, and make every effort to have our opponents have succeeded in this campaign. We must now put their theories to the test. Instead of talking mysteriously about 'sound money' and 'an honest dollar' they must now collaborate and defend a financial system. Every man who has been honestly considered by the silver clubs. Our cause has been perjured most where the money question has been longest discussed among the people. During "The year 1900 is not far away. Before that year arrives international bimetalism will cease to deceive; before that year arrives those who have called themselves gold-standard Democrats will become Republicans; and with it they will become Republicans of the open enemy; before that year arrives trust will have convinced still more people that a trust is menace to private welfare and public safety; before that year arrives the evil effects of a gold standard will be more evident than the benefits; and the people will turn to silver."

an American financial policy for the American people, will join with us in the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation.

W. J. BRYAN."

FISHER-BENOIT.

Mayor Wurster Officiates at a Home Wedding in Brooklyn.

Mayor Wurster of Brooklyn yesterday left o

The business suit which he usually wears at the City Hall and were instead a long frock coat and a white satin tie. As soon as he had finished his labors at the Mayor's office he went to the home of George H. Flsher at 310 Throop avenue, and shortly after noon officiated at the marriage of Miss Mamie Esther Flsher to Maurice V. Benoit. Miss Flsher is the daughter of George H. Flsher, a member of the Brooklyn Board of Education.

The ceremony was performed under a canopy of pink roses and smilax. A wedding ring was paraded by the guests and the husband

Of the bride was drunk from a silver loving cup. The bride's father also celebrated at the same time the seventh anniversary of his second marriage.

These Ex-Cops Fail to Get Back.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court handed down yesterday decisions in the cases of ex-Policemen Albert A. Jordan, Wm. J. Lawson, and Edward J. Barrett, who sought reinstatement of the force. Lawson and Jordan were dismissed by the present Police Board, the former for being in a liquor store, and the latter for being in the hall of a saloon. Edward Harrett was dismissed by the old Police Board for obtaining leave of absence under false pretences.

The Appellate Judges sustain the Police Commissioners in each case.

Randel, Baremore & Billings IMPORTERS OF DIAMONDS

AND OTHER PRECIOUS STONES MANUFACTURERS OF DIAMOND JEWELRY,
58 Nassau St., 29 Maiden Lane, New York
1 St. Andrew's St., Holborn Circuit, London, E. C.